Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Agricultural Gazette of Canada, Vol. 9 In the late summer of 1906 the Experimental Station at Lethbridge, Alberta, designed to serve the southern part of the province, was established. It is located three miles east of the business centre of the city of Lethbridge, and is traversed by the Crow s Nest branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company s line. Owing to the extensive irrigation development that had already begun at that time in southern Alberta, the need for experimental work in connection with farming carried on under irrigation was recognized, and the farm was selected so that a part of it could be irrigated and the balance could be devoted to experimental work with non-irrigated or dry land farming. As a matter of fact, it could almost be said that two experimental farms were established, for the work on the dry and irrigated parts of the farm are quite distinct and have always been kept separate. Their object being not to compare the relative merits of the two systems but to study the individual problems connected with each. The farm consisted of 400 acres of virgin prairie, and was donated, together with the water rights, to the Government by the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company. One hundred only of the 400 acres were irrigable, but a few years later a pump was installed and the water for another 100 acres was pumped, so that at the present time one half of the farm is irrigated. The season of 1907 was devoted to the breaking of the land, fencing and the erection of buildings. the first crop frown was in the season of 1908....
